Boditalk escort

Bullet by Suki LLC

Review by: HotDeena

When I received the package from edenfantasys.com, I was extremely excited at the thought of having a new toy to experiment with. Upon opening the shipping box, I found small pink and white box marked Boditalk Escort bullet vibe.

The manufacturer's box was very appealing to the eye. I quickly unpackaged the toy to unveil my new bullet. A couple of things that stood out to me right away were the size of the Boditalk Escort and the cute storage case. Due to these two things, I knew it would be perfect when traveling.

For its size, Boditalk is very powerful. You can set the vibrations at several different levels from a pleasant rumble to an earth shaking, panty rocking, out of body experience. I'm very pleased that Boditalk can go from a lamb to a raging beast with a few clicks of the button because I often require a large variety of vibration depending on my mood. I also love that the Boditalk offers so many different vibration patterns as well. Whoever programmed the different patterns knew a thing or two about clit stimulation. They are perfect for mixing up the stimulation on my clit without any extra effort on my part. I can simply slip Boditalk into my panties, nestle it onto my clit, lay back, and let the bullet do all the work for me. With its size and shape, it seems to stay perfectly in place without the need of any adjustment.

One of the coolest features about Boditalk is that it is cell phone activated. All you need to do is flip the little switch on the side, and Boditalk starts vibrating when a cell phone around you gets a call or text message. This option came in very handy while my husband was traveling for business. It took our late night chats to the next level. I've been tempted to wear Boditalk while in public for an extra erotic experience but haven't worked up the nerve. My biggest fear is getting caught in a line with my panties vibrating loudly and me quivering in delight.

My experience with Boditalk has been extremely pleasant to say the least. I definitely recommend the bullet to everyone seeking a powerful toy. I rate the Boditalk five out of five stars with five vrooms and four bees.
