Indiegogo Campaign to Bring Wi-Fi Capability to OhMiBod Pleasure Products

State-of-the-Art App Allows Couples to Control Their Vibrator from Anywhere with a Smartphone

Portsmouth, NH – May 6, 2014 – OhMiBod, creator of the original music vibrator, has launched a campaign on the crowdfunding website Indiegogo that will allow individuals to use a smartphone to control their partner’s vibrator over long distances using a Wi-Fi-enabled OhMiBod Remote App.

OhMiBod combines a state-of-the-art app with award-winning product designs to give users real-time control over their partner’s vibrator using an Android or iOS smartphone or tablet.

Designed for solo or partner play, users can choose from an unlimited number of vibration patterns using five different control modes: voice-to-vibration, touch control, tap and save, accelerometer and preset patterns.

The Indiegogo campaign will run from May 6, 2014 through June 19, 2014. OhMiBod has set a $20,000 goal, which will enable them to complete the addition of Wi-Fi capabilities to the OhMiBod Remote App, making it available for purchase by July 2014.

There is an existing, free version of the OhMiBod Remote App that uses a Bluetooth® connection. It was developed for their forthcoming smartphone-controlled line, blueMotion™ – a next-generation wearable vibrator that received rave reviews following its launch at CES 2014. With the addition of Wi-Fi capability, the OhMiBod Remote App will give users real-time control over their partner’s vibrator whether they’re 10 or 10,000 miles apart. The new app works with all OhMiBod app-compatible pleasure products.

“The OhMiBod Remote App helps couples stay intimately connected by using their smartphones to control each other’s vibrators remotely,” said Suki Dunham, Founder of OhMiBod. “Technology can drive people apart, but we’ve created something that uses your digital devices to bring you closer together—no matter how far apart you are physically.”

Contributors to the OhMiBod Indiegogo Campaign can receive discounts on the blueMotion™ wearable vibrator (a $129 value) and other exciting perks, based on their level of donation. Users can easily download the in-app upgrade to the OhMiBod Remote App from Google Play or the App Store for just $4.99 once the Wi-Fi-enabled version becomes available.
